Mixed Breeds.

Our three little munchkins were found at a car wash. A customer noticed something stirring from the corner of his eye. As he approached, he realized they were puppies just a few days old. They were brought to the shelter where they were bottle raised by one of our employees.

They are vivacious, healthy mixed breeds. Dallas is the larger male with black and tan colors. Houston is a black male with a little white on his forehead like a paint horse, and Austin, the sister, is black with a little white. All three are different and since we raised them, we think they are all beautiful and special. If you are looking for something to fill up your time and your life, please stop by the shelter to meet them. You won't go home empty handed.
