Doberman Pinscher

Good with kids

There is something about a homeless senior dog that breaks one's heart-and such is the case with Bruno, a red Doberman Pinscher, who was brought to his vet to be euthanized. The reason is unclear. The kind-hearted veterinarian felt that this dog deserved another chance. He was brought to Dog and Kitty City, and this is where a new chapter in his life begins.

As you can imagine, the world as he knew it has changed overnight. As a senior dog, he needs more comfort than what living in a dog run can provide. He has been accustomed to being indoors all these years, sleeping in a soft bed, and living in a temperature-controlled environment-luxuries which, unfortunately, we cannot provide at the shelter. For this reason, we are looking for a foster home for Bruno, in addition to a permanent one too.
