Coco (Spanish for Coconut) is a beautiful little flame point Siamese with big blue eyes and a quirky, easygoing temperament. So easygoing, in fact, that he's earned a reputation as an expert napper, and can often be found sleeping soundly in odd places. He's silly and not terribly dignified, and sometimes doesn't know how to "cat" very well. He loves to play, snuggle, and be carried around, and will sometimes perch on your shoulder like a parrot (again, he gets confused about this cat thing...). He also loves to sleep in shoes - ballet flats are his favorite, but he'll tolerate a flip flop if there's nothing else available.

He is in a foster home right now. If you will like to meet him we do ask that you fill out an application first online or at the shelter.
